REPORT ON INDIANA SMOKING-ATTRIBUTABLE MEDICAID EXPENSES FROM SVC, NOW HMA MEDICAID MARKET SOLUTIONS

This week, our In Focus section highlights the executive summary and key findings of a report from SVC, Inc. (SVC), "Indiana Smoking Attributable Medicaid Expenditures Final Report," published in March 2017. The report estimates Medicaid expenditures attributable to individuals who smoke, as compared with those who do not, in the state of Indiana. On March 31, 2017, SVC became HMA Medicaid Market Solutions (HMA MMS), a subsidiary of HMA, and the HMA Weekly Roundup is pleased to showcase the work of our new colleagues.

Report Background

On December 8, 2016, the Richard M. Fairbanks Foundation (the Foundation) contracted with SVC to develop a report identifying Indiana Medicaid spending attributable to smoking. As part of this analysis, several factors were considered, including but not limited to: existing methodologies used to identify Medicaid spending attributable to smoking, available State data, and potential limiting factors. On March 14, 2017, SVC completed an analysis based on Indiana Medicaid Members ages 35-64, and this report was made available on the Foundation's website. On March 31, 2017, SVC added individuals ages 18-34 to the analysis, thereby providing an estimate of smoking attributable Medicaid expenditures among Indiana Medicaid members age 18-64.

Executive Summary & Key Findings

Despite a decline in smoking prevalence over the past ten years, smoking remains the leading cause of preventable disease and death in the United States and is responsible for more than one in five deaths annually. Describing the negative health effects of smoking is powerful in the effort to reduce overall smoking prevalence; however, translating these negative effects into economic terms may be more persuasive. The U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) estimates the total economic cost of smoking is more than $300 billion annually, including nearly $170 billion in direct medical care for adults.<sup>1</sup> This report provides an estimate of smoking attributable Medicaid expenditures in Indiana. The results of this current analysis are consistent with the prevailing research and indicate that smokers are nearly 17 percentage points more likely to have smoking-attributable health consequences relative to non-smokers (35.8 percent vs. 19.2 percent), which likely drives the fact that smokers have 51 percent higher monthly Medicaid expenditures than non-smokers. This translates to an estimated $540 million in smoking-attributable health care expenditures annually. A complete analysis of the data received is provided in Section VI of this report; however, key findings are highlighted below:

- The self-reported tobacco use and direct tobacco-related expenditures indicate that the prevalence of smoking among Indiana Medicaid members is 23.0 percent, which is comparable to the national estimate for Medicaid members reported by the CDC (27.8 percent). We note that self-reported tobacco use may be underreported, due to individual discomfort disclosing smoking habits to a health care provider.
- Indiana Medicaid members who smoke have higher health care costs compared to members who do not smoke. The overall per member per month (PMPM) Medicaid expenditures for smokers ($904.61) is 51.4 percent ($307.03) higher compared to those for non-smokers ($597.58). This equates to an annual difference of $3,684.27 between smokers ($10,855.29) and non-smokers ($7,171.02). There were 637,031 adults (ages 18-64) enrolled in Medicaid during the final month for timeframe for this analysis (June, 2016). As stated previously, this analysis finds that the smoking rate among Indiana Medicaid members is 23.0

percent, which yields a total of 146,517 individual smokers. Thus, the annual difference ($3,684.27) between these smokers and non-smoking Indiana Medicaid members calculates to $539,808,666.55 in Medicaid costs.

Per Member Per Month (PMPM) and Annual Estimates of Medicaid Expenditures among Indiana Medicaid Member, FY 2016

Gender	Age	PMPM		Annual Estimate
		Smoker	Non-Smoker	Smoker	Non-Smoker

Total		$904.61	$597.58	$10,855.29	$7,171.02

- The annual difference in Medicaid expenditures between smokers ($10,855.29) and non-smokers ($7,171.02) is $3,684.27, which calculates to $539,808,666.55 in smoking-attributable Medicaid costs annually.
- Older Indiana Medicaid members who smoke have higher medical costs compared to younger members who smoke. The PMPM Medicaid expenditures for male smokers age 55-64 ($1,246.37) is 70.3 percent ($514.29) higher compared to male smokers age 18-34 ($732.08). The PMPM Medicaid expenditures for female smokers age 55-64 ($1,100.38) is 82.3 percent ($496.69) higher compared to female smokers age 18-34 ($603.69).
- The difference in health care costs between smokers and non-smokers is greater among younger adults. Among males age 35-44, the PMPM expenditures for smokers ($971.87) was $332.01 (51.9 percent) higher compared to those for non-smokers ($639.86). Among females age 18-34, the PMPM expenditures for smokers ($603.69) was $235.55 (64.0 percent) higher compared to those for non-smokers ($368.14).
- Male smokers have higher health care costs compared to female smokers. The overall PMPM Medicaid expenditures for male smokers ($1,025.60) is 22.6 percent ($189.30) higher compared to those for female smokers ($836.30).
- The overall prevalence of smoking-attributable health consequences (listed in Table 1) is 16.6 percentage points higher among smokers (35.8 percent) compared to non-smokers (19.2 percent). Among males, the prevalence of smoking-attributable health consequences is 18.6 percentage points higher for smokers (38.6 percent) compared to non-smokers (20.0 percent). Among females, the prevalence of smoking-attributable health consequences is 14.6 percentage points higher for smokers (34.3 percent) compared to non-smokers (18.7 percent).

- Among individuals with smoking-attributable health consequences, such as lung cancer or stroke, there is minimal variation in PMPM expenditures ($59.92; 4.3 percent) among smokers ($1,439.38) versus non-smokers ($1,379.46), which suggests that the higher overall health care costs among smokers is driven by the fact that smokers experience a higher number of health consequences compared to non-smokers. Put differently, the cost of smoking-related health problems is approximately the same between smokers and non-smokers; however, since smokers have more smoking-related health problems compared to non-smokers, their overall costs are higher.

HMA MEDICAID ROUNDUP

Alabama

Alabama Publishes MLTSS Concept Paper for Comment. On April 5, 2017, the Alabama Medicaid Agency published a concept paper for public comment on the planned Integrated Care Network (ICN) Program. The ICN program plans to implement Medicaid managed long term services and supports (MLTSS) statewide for around 25,000 Medicaid beneficiaries residing in a nursing facility or enrolled in one of three of the state's home and community based services (HCBS) waiver programs. Per the concept paper, a competitive procurement would be issued in August 2017 to contract with no more than two statewide ICNs, which are organizations of health care providers that will receive monthly risk-based capitation payments. ICNs can be for-profit or not-for-profit entities, and must have a governing board composed of 20 members: 12 members representing risk-bearing participants in the ICN and eight members who do not represent risk-bearing participants. The state is targeting implementation in July 2018. Comments on the concept paper are due May 4, 2017. Read More

Connecticut

Hospitals Push Back Against Proposed Tax Increases. The CT Mirror reported on April 5, 2017, that Connecticut hospitals are pushing back against tax increases proposed by Governor Dannel Malloy. The Connecticut Hospital Association projects that hospital taxes would increase to $623 million in fiscal 2018 and $625 million in 2019, compared to $556 million in fiscal 2017, driven by changes to the hospital provider assessment and the elimination of the not-for-profit municipal property tax exemption for hospitals. Centers for Independent Living Urge Rejection of Governor's Proposal to Eliminate State Funding. The CT Mirror reported on April 11, 2017, that Connecticut's five centers for independent living are asking legislators to reject a proposal that would eliminate state funding for their facilities. Governor Dannel P. Malloy has proposed eliminating the state funding next fiscal year to help alleviate a state budget deficit. Funding is already down in the current fiscal year from $529,000 to $202,005. State funds currently represent approximately 45 percent of the centers' annual funding, with federal grants making up the rest. The centers fear that further funding reduction could lead to further reductions in the number of clients served, and possibly the closing of facilities. The centers provide training, guidance, employment, education, and housing support services in 25 communities across the state. Read More

Florida

HMA Roundup – Elaine Peters (Email Elaine)

Houses Advances Bill for Medicaid Work Requirements, Premiums. Tampa Bay Times reported on April 6, 2017, that the Florida House is advancing a bill that includes work requirements and premiums for able-bodied Medicaid beneficiaries. These individuals would be required to pay premiums of $10 to $15 per month and demonstrate that they are employed or searching for work in order to receive Medicaid benefits. Failure to meet those requirements would result in the loss of Medicaid coverage for a year. The House Health and Human Services Committee passed the proposal as part of broader legislation that would make a number of changes to Florida's Medicaid program. However, the state Senate has still not signed off on the work requirements and premiums, and the changes would require federal approval. Read More

Georgia

HMA Roundup – Kathy Ryland (Email Kathy)

Bill Allows Dental Hygienists to Provide Basic Dental Care in Attempt to Improve Access. AJC.com reported on April 6, 2017, that the Georgia House approved a bill that will allow dental hygienists to provide basic dental care in safety net settings such as qualified health centers, school-based clinics, and dental offices without a dentist present. Supporters say the change will help alleviate issues around access to dental care for Medicaid beneficiaries. Georgia ranked 49th in the country in dentists per capita in 2012, with only 22 percent of dentists accepting Medicaid. The bill will now go to Governor Nathan Deal's desk for his signature. ## Illinois

HFS to Shift 26,000 MCO Members to Fee-For-Service, Citing Access Concerns. The State Journal-Register reported on April 7, 2017, that Illinois Department of Healthcare and Family Services (HFS) officials will shift more than 26,000 Medicaid managed care members in the Springfield area to fee-for-service Medicaid effective May 1, 2017. The move, which impacts several counties in the Central Illinois managed care region, is due to provider access concerns following Health Alliance's exit from the Medicaid managed care market at the end of 2016. Since January 1, 2017, Molina Healthcare has been the only Medicaid managed care plan serving the impacted counties. Illinois is currently rebidding nearly all Medicaid managed care contracts and expanding managed care statewide, with a projected implementation date of January 1, 2018. Read More

Family Health Network Expresses Concern for Future of Operations. Crain's Chicago Business reported on April 6, 2017, that provider-led Medicaid managed care plan Family Health Network (FHN), which has 200,000 members in Cook County, fears it may be forced to cease operations in 2018. Under the ongoing Medicaid managed care procurement, the state will require Medicaid plans to operate statewide, unless they are minority owned or operated by a local government, effective January 1, 2018. A group of Chicago-area state legislators are expressing concerns that the closure of FHN would also negatively impact the financial condition of the hospitals that own the plan, including Norwegian Hospital, St. Bernard Hospital, Sinai Health System, St. Anthony Hospital, and Presence Health. Read More

Iowa

Aetna to Exit Iowa Exchange Market in 2018. Modern Healthcare reported on April 6, 2017, that Aetna will stop selling individual policies in Iowa in 2018 and will exit the Exchange. The announcement comes shortly after Wellmark decided to pull out of the market as well. Iowa is now left with only one insurer in 99 counties, Medica, and two insurers in the remaining five counties, Medica and Gundersen. However, it is unclear if Medica will remain on the Iowa Exchange. Meanwhile, Aetna is still deciding whether it will sell plans in its remaining ACA marketplaces, including Virginia, Delaware, and Nebraska. In most states, insurers have until June 21 to decide. Governor Says Medicaid Managed Care Cut Hospital Admissions in Half; Hospitals Disagree. The Des Moines Register reported on April 5, 2017, that Iowa hospitals are questioning Governor Terry Branstad's claim that the transition to Medicaid managed care resulted in a 54 percent reduction in hospital admissions among Medicaid recipients. The Iowa Department of Human Services said the figure is based on data reported to the agency by three managed care plans serving more than 500,000 Medicaid enrollees. However, the Iowa Hospital Association says its data shows that the number of Medicaid recipients being discharged from Iowa hospitals declined by four percent in the past year. Read More

Kansas

House to Vote on HMO Fee Increase to Reverse Medicaid Provider Payment Cuts. The Topeka Capital-Journal reported on April 5, 2017, that the Kansas House is ready to vote on raising the "privilege fee" for HMOs doing business in Kansas from 3.31 percent to 5.77 percent of premiums. The funds raised would be used to reverse a 4 percent reimbursement cut to providers serving Kansas Medicaid members from last year. Under current law, the fee could be reduced to 2 percent in January 2018, but pending legislation would delay that until 2023. Read More

Kentucky

Medicaid Work Requirements Proposal to be Reviewed Without CMS Administrator's Input. Kaiser Health News reported on April 5, 2017, that a pending Kentucky proposal to require some Medicaid beneficiaries meet work requirements will be decided without the input of Seema Verma, Administrator of the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS). Prior to joining CMS, Verma was a consultant who helped write the Kentucky proposal, which was submitted in August 2016. If approved, Kentucky would be the first state in the country to introduce work requirements in Medicaid. Read More

Massachusetts

EOHHS Seeks Waiver Flexibility in Letter to CMS. Massachusetts Executive Office of Health and Human Services (EOHHS) Secretary Marylou Sudders submitted a letter on March 22, 2017, to the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services requesting “immediate relief” from certain federal rules and requirements. Massachusetts is seeking:

- Expanded flexibility in designing Medicaid benefit packages
- Expanded flexibility on recent federal rules on outpatient drug coverage and managed care that limit states’ abilities to manage their programs
- A waiver to significantly expand flexibility for states to manage care for dual eligibles
- A waiver for immediate reprieve for employers from reporting requirements associated with the federal mandate in employer-sponsored health insurance
- A waiver to provide flexibility on utilization of small business tax credits and request to be allowed to access funds immediately to disburse using state-specific criteria for eligible small businesses
- Extended flexibility to continue using state-specific rating factors
- HHS to maintain risk corridor and reinsurance payments in 2017 during transition period

House Proposes Budget, Excludes Employer Assessment. AP/The Virginian-Pilot reported on April 10, 2017, that the Massachusetts House unveiled a $40.3 billion state budget, excluding a plan to help fund Medicaid through a fee on certain employers. Governor Charlie Baker had proposed a fee of $2,000 per employee for companies with more than 10 employees that do not offer health insurance. The House budget instead suggests public hearings on the proposal. Governor Baker estimated the fee would bring in $300 million, but the House estimates it would be $180 million. The budget proposal does call for a waiver prohibiting employees who are offered health insurance through their employer from enrolling in MassHealth. Read More

New York

HMA Roundup - Denise Soffel (Email Denise)

Representative Faso Proposes Bill to End County Contributions to Medicaid. U.S. Representative John Faso has introduced a bill in Congress that would end county contributions to Medicaid for all New York State counties outside of New York City. The proposal was initially floated during Congressional efforts to repeal and replace the Affordable Care Act, and was designed to encourage the New York delegation to support Republican efforts. New York is unusual in the role counties play in financing the state’s Medicaid program, which historically had counties providing 25 percent of the cost (along with the state’s 25 percent share and the federal 50 percent match). Recognizing that the growth in Medicaid costs was outpacing the ability of counties to generate tax revenue to finance those costs, the state has gradually been taking on a greater share of those costs. The amendment, the “Property Tax Reduction Act of 2017," would eliminate the federal match for any Medicaid costs paid for directly by counties. Read More

FIDA Update. The New York Department of Health Division of Long Term Care will be providing a stakeholder webinar with a status update on the Fully Integrated Duals Advantage (FIDA) program. The webinar will be on Friday, April 28, 2017 from 2 - 3 pm. Link to Register

New York-Presbyterian Awarded Accountable Health Communities Funding. New York-Presbyterian Hospital was awarded funding through the CMS Accountable Health Communities initiative (Press Release). The Accountable Health Communities (AHC) model is designed to address a critical gap between clinical care and community services in the current delivery system. The AHC model will test whether increased awareness of and access to services addressing health-related social needs will impact total health care costs and improve health and quality of care for Medicare and Medicaid beneficiaries in targeted communities. Under the program, New York-Presbyterian will screen Medicare and Medicaid patients in the Washington Heights/Inwood area to assess whether it can connect them with social services. The health system will work with community-based organizations to address patients' issues with housing, food, utilities, interpersonal violence and nonmedical transportation. New York-Presbyterian was one of 20 organizations nationwide funded under the AHC Alignment Track, which is meant to provide community service navigation services, as well as encourage community-level partner alignment to ensure that needed services and supports are available and responsive to beneficiaries' needs. ## North Carolina

House Speaker Opposes Medicaid Expansion. The News & Observer reported on April 10, 2017, that a recent North Carolina proposal to expand Medicaid may have a difficult time passing given the opposition of House Speaker Tim Moore. The bill would expand Medicaid to adults earning up to 133 percent of the federal poverty level. Adults would be required to pay annual premiums equal to two percent of their household income and would need to be working or actively seeking work. The bill also proposes that hospitals would help fund the state's share of the cost of the expansion. Read More

Bill Introduced to Expand Medicaid, Impose Premiums and Work Requirements. North Carolina Health News reported on April 11, 2017, that the North Carolina legislature has introduced a Medicaid expansion bill called Carolina Cares, including work requirements and premium payments for beneficiaries. Individuals would also be required to have a primary care doctor and to engage in wellness activities such as annual screenings. Governor Roy Cooper has proposed using a hospital assessment to fund the state portion of the expansion cost. Read More

Legislators, DOJ at Odds Over Medicaid Expansion Lawsuit. The News & Observer reported on April 8, 2017, that the U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ) asked a Federal judge to dismiss a lawsuit filed by North Carolina legislators opposed to Medicaid expansion. Two state legislators filed a federal lawsuit in an attempt to block plans by Governor Roy Cooper to expand Medicaid. The DOJ wants the suit dismissed, arguing that until the plan is actually submitted the legislators do not have a valid claim. Governor Cooper announced his intention to submit a proposal to expand Medicaid in January; although he still has not formally released a plan. Read More

Department of Medicaid Releases New Information on Medicaid MLTSS Procurement. The Ohio Department of Medicaid on March 31, 2017, published a slide presentation including information and updates from a recent stakeholder meeting about the state's Medicaid Managed Long-Term Services and Supports (MLTSS) procurement. Ohio plans to issue a request for applications (RFA) in July 2017 to procure at least three statewide MLTSS plans. Plans will be selected in October 2017 and fee-for-service members will begin transitioning to MLTSS in July 2018, phased in over 6 months, with transitions occurring every 60 days. Read More

House Finance Committee Debates Managed Long Term Services and Supports Proposal. Gongwer-Ohio reported on April 7, 2017, that opponents and proponents testified on Governor John Kasich's budget proposal to enroll individuals receiving community and facility based long term services and supports (LTSS) and others in managed LTSS (MLTSS). The proposal would exclude Ohio MyCare (duals demonstration) enrollees. Under the administration's proposal, three MLTSS plan contracts would be competitively bid this summer. Proponents of the proposal cite the success of the MyCare demonstration, better care management, cost savings, and good customer satisfaction. Opponents of the proposal, meanwhile, cite the lack of experience serving individuals with complex needs and less local, independent care management. Read More

Health Care Authority Outlines Potential Medicaid Cuts Required Under Budget Shortfall. Tulsa World reported on April 11, 2017, that the Oklahoma Health Care Authority outlined options for cuts to the state's SoonerCare Medicaid program assuming a budget shortfall for the upcoming fiscal year. Assuming a 15 percent reduction in Medicaid appropriations, the state proposed a potential 25 percent cut in Medicaid provider rates along with the elimination of benefits such as pharmacy, behavioral health, durable medical equipment, and programs for breast and cervical cancer treatment. Other programs potentially targeted for cuts could include private-duty nursing services, adult organ transplants, dialysis, hospice services, physical and occupational therapy, and speech, hearing, and language disorder services. SoonerHealth+ Transition Raises Provider Concerns on Future of Supplemental Payments. The Oklahoman reported on April 7, 2017, that as Oklahoma moves closer to implementation of the SoonerHealth+ Medicaid managed care program for individuals in the aged, blind, and disabled (ABD) category of eligibility, providers and other health care experts in the state are expressing concerns over the potential impact on supplemental provider payments. Recent decisions from the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) on the continued use of supplemental payments when transitioning to managed care have raised concerns that as much as $650 million in current payments are at risk. Some provider systems have claimed the revised federal rule, which came in the middle of the SoonerHealth+ procurement process, could cause them to lose money on each Medicaid patient. Nico Gomez, president of the Oklahoma Association of Health Care Providers, is encouraging state Medicaid officials to delay the SoonerHealth+ rollout. Read More

The IEB will provide choice counseling and enrollment assistance services to individuals who apply for, or are eligible to receive health-related services and LTSS through programs administered by DHS' Office of Long Term Living (OLTL). The selected offeror will provide enrollment assistance for CHC and LIFE, PA's PACE program. The department is moving forward with contract and rate negotiations with the three selected offerors: AmeriHealth Caritas, UPMC for You, and PA Health and Wellness (Centene). OLTL has held initial implementation and readiness review meetings with the MCOs. Representatives will be available to answer stakeholder questions at the next MLTSS Subcommittee meeting on May 3, 2017 and it is encouraged to submit questions in advance to RA-PWCHC@pa.gov. Additionally, Jennifer Burnett, OLTL Deputy Secretary, is hopeful that the CHC Waiver application will be submitted to CMS by the end of the month.

New health care company begins work to enhance value-based health care in Pennsylvania. The Care Centered Collaborative, formed by the Pennsylvania Medical Society (PAMED), supports the provision of value-based care by Pennsylvania physicians. One new service will enable care excellence in the federal government's Quality Payment Program (QPP). Care Centered Collaborative will also partner with physicians to gain greater efficiencies including accurate insurance claims handling, care management services, and health informatics technology. Joint programs designed to improve patient care with other health care organizations are also planned. Read More

Senate Proposes Nurse Practitioners Care Bill. Modern Healthcare reported on April 11, 2017, that the Pennsylvania Senate has proposed a bill allowing nurse practitioners to provide care without the supervision of a physician. The bill aims to ease the shortage of health care providers in rural and underserved areas. According to state Senator Camera Bartolotta (R-Carroll), who introduced the bill, 35 percent of state residents live in an area with inadequate access to care. Physicians groups are opposing the legislation, saying nurse practitioners are not trained to provide the care necessary. The Senate Consumer Protection and Professional Licensure Committee will vote on the bill. Read More

Senate Committee Advances Bill to Increase Oversight of Nursing Homes. The Houston Chronicle reported on April 5, 2017, that the Texas Senate Health and Human Services Committee voted unanimously to advance a bill that would increase regulatory oversight of nursing homes, raise penalties, and limit the ability of nursing home operators to self-correct violations. Currently, long-term care providers have the right to correct violations within 45 days to avoid sanction. The bill would also direct the Texas Health and Human Services Commission to create a system for evaluating penalties based on severity and number of violations. The bill comes after an AARP report issued in January found inadequate conditions in many long term care facilities and raised questions about quality. Read More

Advocates Push Back Against $70 Million in Medicaid Rate Cuts for Home Care Attendants. American-Statesman reported on April 6, 2017, that patient advocates are speaking out against $70 million in proposed rate reductions over the next two years for providers of Medicaid home care services for individuals with intellectual disabilities. The Texas Health and Human Services Commission proposed cutting reimbursement rates for home care attendants in two different Medicaid waiver programs by 21 percent down to $17.73 per hour beginning July 1, 2017. Combined, the programs serve approximately 32,000 individuals. The commission will hold another public hearing to gather feedback on the rate reductions on May 6, 2017. Read More

House Rejects Medicaid Expansion; Lawmakers Form Subcommittee on Health Care. Richmond Times-Dispatch reported on April 5, 2017, that the Virginia House rejected a Medicaid expansion budget amendment proposed by Governor Terry McAuliffe. Meanwhile, Republican lawmakers are forming a new joint legislative subcommittee to come up with other ways to improve health care that do not negatively impact the budget. The Virginia House and Senate approved 15 of the 27 budget amendments Governor McAuliffe proposed, including a new payment structure for the Virginia Birth-Related Neurological Injury Program. Both chambers also agreed on removing a proposal that would have allowed 25 private hospitals to receive supplemental Medicaid payments. Read More

Medicaid Enrollment Applications Top Expectations. The News & Observer reported on April 10, 2017, that the number of enrollment applications for Virginia's Medicaid program doubled expectations for the fourth quarter of 2016. States Increasingly Seeking Waiver Funds for SUD Treatment Facilities Amid Opioid Crisis. PEW Trusts reported on April 5, 2017, that an increasing number of states are pursuing waivers that would allow the use of federal Medicaid funding for substance use disorder (SUD) treatment in facilities with more than 16 beds. States are seeking the waivers in response to the opioid epidemic, which has resulted in a shortage of residential treatment options for Medicaid beneficiaries. California, Maryland, Massachusetts, and New York have already been granted waivers. Seven other states, including Arizona, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Michigan, Utah, and Virginia, are seeking waivers. The 16-bed provision was originally meant to encourage community-based mental health treatment. President Donald Trump's administration is expected to continue to grant the waivers. Read More

House Republicans Add Risk-Sharing Program Worth $15 Billion to AHCA Bill. The New York Times reported on April 6, 2017, that House Republicans added an amendment to the American Health Care Act Bill that would provide an extra $15 billion for insurers to help pay for the sickest customers. The risk-sharing program's goal is to stabilize insurance markets by lowering premiums and in turn attracting more individuals to buy insurance. Insurers continue to pull out of the Exchanges, with Aetna being the latest to leave Iowa. The measure passed by a party-line vote of nine to two. The legislative session is currently on break, so the earliest that Congress can review the new amended bill is April 25. Read More

Trump Administration Still Weighing Continuation of Exchange Subsidies. The Hill reported on April 11, 2017, that the Trump administration is still weighing whether to continue cost-sharing reduction subsidies for low-income individuals who purchase health coverage in the Exchange market. U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) spokeswoman Alleigh Marré stated on April 11 that a The New York Times report claiming the administration would continue to pay the subsidies is "inaccurate." Marré stated that no decisions have been made regarding how the administration will proceed. The administration did state earlier that it would continue the payments until the resolution of a lawsuit filed against the Obama administration by the U.S. House, which argues that the payments were never appropriated by Congress. Hospitals Still Rely on DSH Payments Despite Drop in Uncompensated Care, Per MACPAC Report. Modern Healthcare reported on April 11, 2017, that despite a drop in uncompensated care costs in the past few years, hospitals still find disproportionate-share hospital (DSH) payments an important source of funding, according to a recent report from the Medicaid and CHIP Payment and Access Commission (MACPAC). Federal DSH funding is scheduled to be cut on September 30, 2017, extended from the initial planned date for DSH fund reductions in 2014. The funding cuts will equal $2 billion in fiscal 2018, growing to $8 billion by fiscal 2025. Safety net hospitals continue to struggle financially, with many reporting negative operating margins. According to the MACPAC report, 20 states will face fiscal 2018 cuts larger than recent declines in uncompensated care. MACPAC recommends recalculating DSH payments based on the efficacy of value-based care initiatives. Read More

HMA Launches Weekly Informatics Series

Over the next few weeks, the HMA Weekly Roundup and HMA Information Services (HMAIS) will showcase a series of maps and other key informatics. Our first map in the series highlights data on children without health insurance. With decreased access to preventative care, children without health insurance are less likely to receive timely and effective treatment when the need arises.

What does your service area look like? Utilizing sophisticated geo-mapping software, HMA prepares detailed maps at the state, county, zip code, or census tract level, to communicate key data at a glance. This includes demographic, health status, and service gap issues.

For more information on this map or to create your own maps and charts to assist your community needs assessments, planning, marketing, and advocacy efforts please contact HMA Chicago’s Anissa Lambertino at: alambertino@healthmanagement.com or (312) 641-5007.
